Invitation to sponsor

The ISDP international meeting is now in its 38th year, and is the leading International meeting in the field of Dermatopathology. Please see www.intsocdermpath.org

The XXXVIII Symposium of the International Society of Dermatopathology is an exciting opportunity for you to interact with around 400 International experts in the field of Dermatopathology, up to half of which are also practising dermatologists.

We are delighted to invite to you support this meeting and hope by visiting the website www.isdp2017.com you will see the exciting programme that we have in place.

Sessions will include Digital Dermatopathology and Telepathology, the Internet and social media in Dermatopathology, Molecular pathology in Dermatopathology, and Confocal Microscopy, with many Videomicroscopy sessions.

The state of the art Technology & Innovation Centre of the University of Strathclyde will host the Symposium and we are sure that Glasgow will be a wonderful host city.

The British Association of Dermatologists Conference team is assisting with the organisation. Please direct your interest to conference@bad.org.uk

Thank you for your consideration and I hope to welcome you to Glasgow in September 2017.
